Water Meters Proposed For All Homes in N.Y.

November Milk Is Listed at $4.30
Quotation Is Given Five Days Early for Yule Checks

New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—Dairy farmers will get a uniform price of $1.30 per hundredweight (about 47 quarts) for November milk delivered to plants in the six-state New York milkshed.

C. J. Blanford, administrator of the New York milk marketing area, announced the price yesterday five days ahead of the deadline so that dairymen could be paid for November milk before Christmas.

The November price is above the $4.18 paid for October milk, but below the November, 1948, price of $5.62.

Blanford said the product, but for a difference for November would be 36 cents for each 10th of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

November production was the highest for that month in the 11 years of the marketing order. Blanford said he attributed the 37 per cent increase over a year ago to a record daily output per farm plus an increase in the number of producers.

Total deliveries to pool-approved plants in November amounted to 165,109,979 pounds, an increase of 89,737,710 pounds over the total delivered in the same month a year ago. The previous record high of the month was 118,218,977 pounds in 1911.

Schreyer. The list of nominees receiving the highest number of nominating votes will be placed on the final election ballot to be sent out about January 1. The latter, accompanying the ballot, contains a complete list of all members eligible for nomination. In case of duplicate membership the names of all voting members are included. Under the by-laws, members are to be numbered in duplicate membership submitted the maximum number of votes which can be cast by one firm is four.

To Decrease Usage 20 Per Cent in 150,000 City Buildings

New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—A five-year program to alleviate New York's water problems by installing water meters in apartment houses and homes was proposed by city officials yesterday.

Water Commissioner Stephen J. Carney said he would ask the Board of Estimate next month to permit him to start putting the meters in the metropolis' 150,000 apartment buildings.

He said this step would cut water usage 20 per cent, based on results in other large cities where water is paid for by the gallon instead of at a flat rate.

Carney's department made a similar proposal in 1948 but it was dropped in the face of strong opposition.

City Councilman Hugh Quinn of Queens said he would introduce a measure permitting installation of the meters in one and two-family homes as well as apartments.

Carney said his department plan would cost the city $30,000,000 at the outset but that the landlords would pay it back on a 10-year installment plan.

Records indicate there is extra heavy water consumption in apartments, the commissioner said—89 gallons a day per capita compared with 66 gallons in duplexes and 56 gallons in one-family homes.

High Coffee Prices Not Apt to Drop; Brazil Crop Gone

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—American housewives are likely to wait a long time for any general return of coffee prices to September levels.

The reason for this was outlined for Congress yesterday by an American diplomatic official. Brazilian reserves have virtually disappeared and unfavorable growing conditions have wrecked any chances for a bumper crop next year.

"I don't think Brazil ever again will be as big a coffee producer as she was," Robert E. Elwood, second secretary of the U. S. Embassy at Rio de Janeiro, told a Senate agricultural subcommittee investigating high coffee prices.

Elwood was ordered home to testify before the committee. He took a somewhat different approach to the coffee problem from that of Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa).

"It is just as apparent to this committee as daylight that somewhere along the line in October and November there were speculative interests that had such an effect on the coffee market as to practically double the price of coffee to the American consumer."

He added there has been a "rigging of the market and we are trying to find out where it is."

Elwood told the committee there has been an "unexpectedly heavy rate" of coffee exports from Brazil since July 1, 1949.

"Continuation of this rate of exports," he said, "would have resulted in the complete exhaustion of the coffee supplies in Brazil before the 1950 crop would begin to become available for export in July of that year."

Also, he said, a drought in South-Central Brazil "destroyed all hope of a bumper harvest in 1950."

Cold Weather Can't Stop Shoppers or River Navigation

Merchants Report Crowd, Heavy Traffic Friday; Ferry Continues to Cross Hudson

Although a temperature drop sent thermometers down near the zero mark, thousands of Christmas shoppers jammed the business sections of Kingston Friday night.

The cold weather also had no serious effects on river or Rondout creek navigation. It was reported at the Rondout Light Station this morning that no trouble was reported by several tankers and other river craft which passed that point, headed north upriver and into the creek. There were a number of floating ice cakes, however, in both the creek and river.

Ferry service between Kingston and Poughkeepsie was continuing, the light keeper said.

Merchants in this city reported business as being good. About 7:30 p. m. Friday automobiles and pedestrians crowded the uptown section so that traffic on Wall street between Main and North Front streets became slow and difficult.

Most arteries were clear of ice, but slippery conditions in several of the other streets caused minor traffic tie-ups. Police received a complaint at 8:47 p. m. that the intersection of St. James and Fair streets was so slippery that it was almost impossible to stop for the stop sign. Sanding crews were notified.

Several other incidents hindered traffic but were too minor to be reported to authorities. One of these occurred about 9 p. m. when two automobiles locked bumpers when one skidded into the other on Pearl street near the Clinton avenue traffic light.

In both directions was held up about 15 minutes until the vehicles could be parted.

One typical Christmas shopping incident was reported to police at 8:38 p. m. A clerk at Grant's department store on Wall street told police a 7-year-old boy had become lost and had been in the store over a half-hour.

The clerk said she and other store employees "could not keep him from crying."

The boy's parents, who were told by the police that the mother had appeared at the store and claimed her youngster, police said.

Temperatures in the vicinity early today reached lows ranging in different areas from five degrees above zero to zero. The five-degree low was reported at the city hall at 8 a. m. today, and the zero mark was recorded about the same time at Brown Station at the Ashokan Reservoir.

Spy Probers Find Russians Received Water for A-Bombs

Committee Is Thinking of Calling Canadian to Explain About Uranium Items

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee dug out today what it considers proof that the Russians got 1,000 grams of heavy water—valuable for atomic experiments—in 1943.

The committee also is thinking of calling in the head of a Canadian firm for questioning about 1,000 pounds of uranium compounds the Soviets got in the spring of 1943.

The heavy water was the fourth wartime atomic shipment to the Soviets the committee believes it has nailed down. Additional checks have shown that a report of a fifth shipment of uranium compound in mid-1944—was a dud.

While the committee was trying to find out just how much atomic material Russia got from this country during the war—and how it happened—a casual remark by a former Pentagon official set off fresh speculation about where this country's A-bombs are stored.

"The Mexico Mo. Lodge moved Curtis Mitchell—who until a few weeks ago was deputy director of public information at the Pentagon—as saying that the first attacks on this country in event of war probably would be aimed at 'the caves in the southwest where our bombs are stored'."

Defense Department officials declined comment. William Frye, director of public information, said: "I have no knowledge of the basis of Mr. Mitchell's remarks, but I can say that at no time during his service in the department did he have access to atomic energy information."

As for the shipments to Russia, Lt. Gen. Leslie Groves, who headed the wartime A-bomb project and who testified before the House committee this week said last night that the House group should press its probe because "we must know why and who was responsible for any leakage of secret data."

Evidence of a shipment of heavy water was turned up in old lend-lease records supplied to the committee by the State Department. They contain a "report on program licenses covering shipments to the U. S. S. R., Oct. 1-Dec. 31, 1943."

Tucked in between listings of shipments of stop watches and drugs is this:

Program license No. 339. Material, heavy water, Uranium 1,000 grams. (Shipment) weight 41 pounds. Value, $3,250.

The records don't indicate from whom the Reds bought the heavy water or how it went out of the country.

Lawmakers Split On Way to Handle Unbalanced Budget

Truman's Figures Rated 'Bitter Christmas' Present for U. S. Taxpayers

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—Lawmakers greeted without surprise today the news that President Truman won't submit a balanced budget to Congress, but they split on what to do about it.

Rep. Reed (R-N. Y.) called the announcement by Budget Director Frank Pace "a bitter Christmas present" for Americans—"although it is not wholly unexpected" and demanded a cut in spending.

But Senator Thye (R-Minn.) said that while he favors economy, he opposes the view of most of the colleagues with whom he traveled to Europe that the cuts should be made in foreign recovery funds.

Pace made his statement about the budget outlook yesterday at Key West, Fla., after a conference with Mr. Truman. Pace said there is little probability of balancing the federal budget next year unless Congress votes new taxes.

Congress members already have made it fairly plain that they don't like kindly the idea of upping taxes. Reed said in his statement.

On the eve of Christmas the over-taxed American who is now paying more than 25 per cent of his income to the government is told that he will have to dig deeper next year.

"The people of the nation have received a bitter Christmas present from the government, the news that it will cost them a lot more dollars to let the Truman administration govern them."

Reed didn't say where he thinks federal spending should be cut, but a great many lawmakers have pounced on foreign outlays as a suitable item for budget cutting.

Thye told a reporter he is as in a tangle as anybody else in reducing spending. But he added that he is so impressed with the operations of the Economic Recovery Administration in western Europe that he will hesitate to vote to reduce that fund below the figures to be recommended by E. C. A. Director Paul G. Hoffman.

"I think we are near victory in the fight against Communism there," he said.

A decrease in the county budget is indicated for 1950 according to appropriations made by the Board of Supervisors Friday evening when a partial list of appropriations was voted.

The items included in the resolution are for general operation and do not include the welfare items.

Plan Final Appeal In Sheehan Fund For Vel's Family

This Sheehan Home Fund will be terminated following a third appeal next week for funds for the widow and three children of Harold J. Sheehan, totally disabled World War I veteran who died Thursday night.

This announcement was made by Charles H. Gaffney, chairman, following a special meeting of the fund committee Friday afternoon. An accounting of all money received by the committee to date will be made public when the final appeal is made next week. It was also announced.

The fund was begun this fall by a committee of veterans and businessmen to finance and equip a home at 32 Washington avenue for Sheehan and his family. Sheehan died at the Benedictine Hospital late Thursday night, while the fund campaign was still in progress.

The death of the veteran leaves his widow, the young Mrs. Lillian Sheehan, and his three children, Ann V. Mary Daisy and Theresa Lois. Committee members feel that the family which has stood by the veteran since he was injured in the service is entitled to remain in the new home into which they moved three weeks ago. A mortgage loan on the home remains to be paid off.

Sheehan, a Navy veteran, was injured during the assault and capture of Iwo Jima in the Pacific in the early part of 1945.

5 Million Loan Is Assured for Homes

Bayside Veterans Sign For Living in Co-op Project

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Federal Housing Administration announced yesterday the insuring of a $5,000,000 loan to a Bayside, N. Y., veterans' cooperative apartment project for the addition of 550 new units.

Every unit in the new addition, to be known as Bell Park Manor, has been subscribed for by veterans' families, the F. H. A. said. The manor is part of Bell Park Gardens, where up to 800 families will be housed.

F. H. A. said that the present Bell Park Gardens project carries a mortgage of $7,200,000. Under the latest commitment the insured mortgage financing for both projects will total $12,200,000.

The loans were made by the Bowery Savings Bank of New York city.

The new addition, F. H. A. said, will provide apartments averaging five rooms with monthly rentals to be between $65 and $70. The rentals include mortization of mortgage, interest, heat, utilities operation and maintenance and repairs, F. H. A. said.

Charged With Theft
Savannah, Ga., Dec. 10 (AP)—George "Bud" Gollum is being held on a charge of interstate auto theft the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced last night. Gollum identified himself to U. S. Commissioner Harry H. Hinson in Greenville, S. C., as co-defendant with Beulah Overell in a sensational California trial following the death of her parents.

The regular annual meeting of the Medical Society of the County of Ulster was held Tuesday at 10 a. m. with an attendance of 53 physicians from the county.

Chairmen of various committees gave annual reports of what was accomplished during the year. The longest report was from the cancer committee chairman on Tumor Clinic Medical Board by Dr. F. E. O'Connor. There was great interest in the report and the members were in their praise of Dr. O'Connor for what he had accomplished in getting the Tumor Clinic in operation under the auspices of the county medical society and the Ulster County Board of Health with Dr. Taylor as director.

The report follows:

The actinuity of the Tumor Clinic structure as it now appears is more than most can understand as necessary and but a few to see it is a beginning of the part of the people of this country to obstruct the invasion of a menace that has caused Ulster county to stand out in the state with its high cancer rate. Only to meet the existing problem was not enough. A visionary, far-sighted and even seemingly extravagant plan had to be conceived to satisfy the little known handicap of the physician in this area. Chinese Reds Take Yunnan Province

40,000 National Troops Turn Kunming Over to Communists

Hong Kong, Dec. 10 (AP)—Nationalist China today lost its last remaining province in south China.

Yunnan, bordering Indo-China and Burma, was reported to have gone over completely to the Communists after 40,000 Nationalist troops in Kunming, the capital, deserted this morning.

That leaves the Nationalists with only a narrow fringe along the South China coast, leaving a small sliver of Szechwan and Szechuan provinces.

Their government already has fled Chengtu, capital of Szechwan, and set up headquarters at Taipei, Formosa. It considered Szechwan of Sikang so precarious that original plans to move the capital there were abandoned.

And the newspaper Kung Shung Man Po said the Communists had launched a drive into the Luchow peninsula opposite Hainan Island. Nationalist Gen. Pai Chung-hsi has concentrated a considerable number of troops on the peninsula for evacuation to Hainan.

Unless Pai is able to get his troops away a big battle is expected, the paper added.

News of Kunming's defection—a political double cross for Chiang Kai-shek—came almost simultaneously from two sources. The U. S. consul in Kunming, and a Pacific Overseas Air service (P. O. A. S.) transport which was seized for a time by the deserters. Eleven other planes also were seized at Kunming airport, but some later were permitted to leave.

Gen. Lung Yun, a former Yunnan governor, and other friends of Chiang Kai-shek were credited with the Yunnan coup. He is expected to renounce the government.

U. S. Consul Larue Lutkins of Port Chester, N. Y., was in Kunming when the city fell.

Retiring Barber Recalls Boom Days

Spangenberg Remembers Busy Downtown; Was in Five-Chair Shop

Lawrence J. Spangenberg, 64, East-Chester street, who has been a local barber for more than a half century, and who conducted the barber shop in the Cornell Building, 22 Ferry street, for 48 1/2 years, will close shop sometime this month, he announced yesterday.

Born in Kingston, he was a resident of Adams street for a number of years and was employed at Rundel's Barber Shop, at the site of the present bank building on East Strand for seven years before he opened the shop in the Cornell building.

That was "in the days before the safety razor, when nearly every man came to a barber shop for a shave," and it was back in the days when Rondout water-front was still "buzzing with activity."

Windows of the shop on the second floor, face the waterfront, and as a reporter glanced across the creek at the view, the barber recalled there were times in his early days in the building, when one "could walk across the creek" on the boats and barges.

"This seems hard to believe today," he said, "but they were that close together in the creek in those days."

Cornell Employed 100
More than 100 employees of the Cornell Steamboat Co. worked in the building at 22 Ferry street, when Spangenberg first opened shop and for many years later, but within the past 15 years they have dwindled to a comparatively small group.

The idea of the shop in the building came from an interested group of men who worked there and it was opened on June 24, 1901.

Asked if he knew of any other local barber, whose record of service equalled his own Spangenberg said that Clarence Ryan, who operates a shop on central Broadway, worked with him at Rundel's shop, and they are the only two surviving men.

U.S. Faces Annihilation From A-Bomb, Says Groves

New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Leslie R. Groves says that the nation today is threatened with the possibility of "complete annihilation," but that the people aren't really worried about it.

The wartime head of the atom bomb project told American businessmen leaders yesterday that the public has not awakened to the danger posed by Russia's possession of the A-bomb.

Never before in history," Groves said "have we been threatened with complete annihilation."

But he said the American people "are not convinced in their hearts, there is anything to worry about."

The retired army general told a closing session of the National Association of Manufacturers that the nation's security is "not as

She leaves two sons and a daughter, Henry J. Clark of Kingston, Andrew of Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. Bessie Clark Hassen of Amityville, L. I.

Lawrence G. Ruckel of Coldenham Road, Walden, died Dec. 1 in Cornwall Hospital. Burial was in Faintineck Cemetery, Ellenville. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Ruckel, two brothers, Frank of Ellenville and Theodore of New Haven, a son, Theodore, of New London, Conn., and two grandchildren.

A feature of the Christmas party tendered by the Friendship Club to the W.S.C. of the Methodist Church following the business meeting Dec. 1, was a review by Mrs. See of Earl Count's book, "Four Thousand Years of Christmas." Mr. Count, a native of Ellenville, is a son of the late Rev. E. E. Count. He is now a member of the faculty at Hamilton College. The program also included duets by Mrs. Burdison and Mrs. Wiseman; copies of paintings by famous artists, presented by Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Pulling and a recitation by Mrs. Getman, who gave Henry Van Dyke's story, "The Other Wise Man."

The Ellenville Lions Club was organized at a dinner being held at the Wayside Inn Monday evening, 26 having signed the charter application. Named temporary officers were: Harry Gorman, manager of the A.P. president; Bruno P. Strini of the Telephone Co., first vice-president; Herbert Davis of the Marshall-Jensen Garage, secretary. A full slate of officers is to be elected December 14 at a meeting scheduled for the Mitchell House. Charter members to date include: Arthur Aaron, Joel Balotin, Donald Bradford, Raymond W. Cleary, Herbert Davis, Robert R. DeGroot, Cyrus Deputy, Arthur F. Distel, Dr. Irving Feinberg, Harry Gorman, Frank E. Greco, Charles Guide, Ernest Gunter, Clifford E. Hall, Donald Hilby, Edwin E. Hoar, Edward Kleinman, Kervyn Krom, Joseph A. Rauner, Henry L. Schipp, Joseph K. Schwartz, Francis Sherry, Philip Slutsky, Bruno P. Strini, Norman Tennenbaum, Dr. George Zeitz. A delegation of 10 from the Kethonkon Lions Club, headed by President A. J. Anderson, attended the meeting.

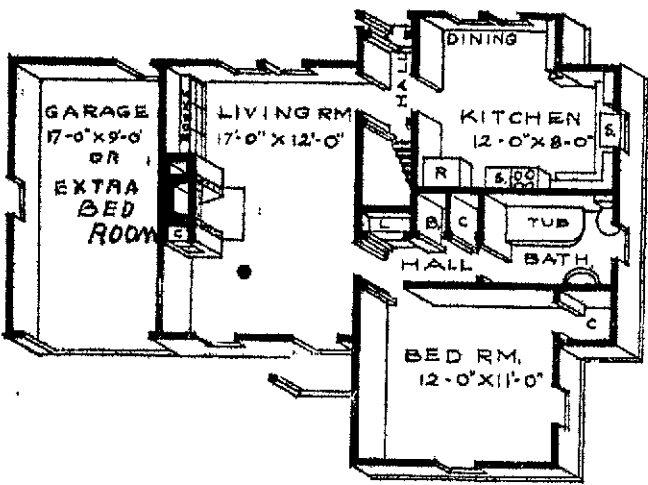

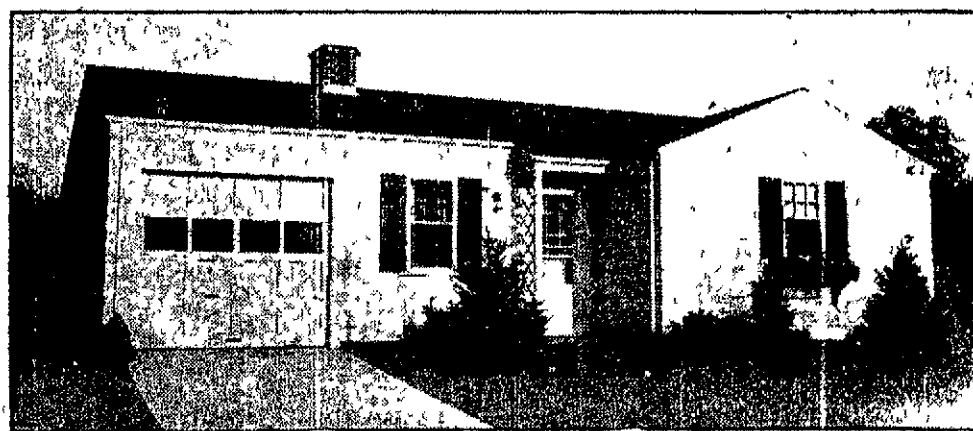

Flattering comments are heard on the beautiful effect produced by the lighting and decoration of the business section in Ellenville this year. Mayor Henry L. Schipp officially opened the display at 5 p. m. December 2, a day earlier than expected. Santa Claus is to be on hand Saturday, Dec. 10, from 5 to 7 and 7 to 9 p. m. and then from Dec. 15, until Christmas. Stores will be open evenings from Dec. 15 on. Many of the stores already have completed their window displays.

Ellenville's minor "crime wave" continues to grow. The latest was the burglarizing of the Ulster Motors Garage, upper Canal street, Sunday night. Proprietor Nathan Lonstein said that upward of $20 in cash and stamps had been taken from the cash register. Entrance was had by breaking a window in a rear door and then unlatching the door. Checks had been scattered over the floor and considerable change had been left in the drawer. Police believe the ringing of the burglar alarm frightened the thieves. The alarm was not heard outside the building, however, and was still ringing Monday morning when the garage was opened for business. Police still are investigating three other similar burglaries perpetrated last week in the north end of the village.

James VanWagner, suspended as head of the strip department since Sept. 20, was given a public hearing by the Village Board Tuesday evening on charges of misconduct and incompetency. At the conclusion of the hearing the trustees formally dismissed VanWagner as superintendent of streets. The vote was on party lines. Mayor Henry L. Schipp and Trustees Cyrus Deputy and Kenneth Mitchell voted for dismissal, while Trustees Jack Siegel and Joseph Gentile voted against the move. LeRoy Lounsbury, attorney for VanWagner, is quoted as stating that he will appeal either to the Ulster County Supreme Court or to the State Civil Service Commission.

Strike Postponed. Rome, Dec. 10 (AP)—A 24-hour strike for today by more than 3,000,000 government workers was averted when its organizers decided to await further parliamentary discussion of proposed pay increases.

THE NASSAU

This Small House Would Be Like a Mansion for a Couple

Unusual Living Comfort Found in Attractive Cottage Named 'The Nassau' — Plenty of Wall Space and Abundant Light

An over-large house is a constant drain on the owners' income. Thus many owners of big residences, with their families grown up, sell their old properties and build small cottages.

No mansion could provide greater living comfort for a middle-aged couple or a young couple, either—than the attractive little cottage, "The Nassau," which is presented today by the "Home of the Week" Plan Service.

Clapboards or Shingles. Either a 50-foot or 60-foot wide lot would make a suitable site for this charming little home, which has a cubic content of 15,500 feet, including the garage. Clapboards or shingle walls, painted white, with green roof and trim, will give the house a bright, clean appearance.

The garage is neatly handled in this plan, being attached to the main house, with a door at the rear only a few steps away from the rear service entry of the dwelling. The front garage doors are of the easily-operated, roll-up type.

The projecting eel of the bedroom and an extension of the main house roof over the front door, afford protection in inclement weather. A combination storm-screen door, with interchangeable panel, is used to supplement the glazed front door.

Knotty Pine Walls. The front door opens directly into the living room, which is 17x12 feet in floor measurements. Matched, knotty pine walls and a false beamed ceiling finished in a neutral toned wall board give the room a warm, homey atmosphere. The fireplace is centered in one long wall, with a built-in bookcase at the side. On the opposite side of the fireplace there is a space designed to accommodate a studio-type divan, which can be converted into a bed for the overnight guest. A niche for the radio is built in the wall on this side of the fireplace.

The glazed front door, a window in this same wall, and a double window looking out on the rear yard provide abundant light and ventilation for the living room. In the wall opposite the fireplace two doors open on hall areas, the front and rear of the house.

The front hall, containing three closets, leads past the bedroom door to the bathroom. The rear hall serves as a passage between the living room and the kitchen. The basement stairs and service entrance to the house open from this hall.

Good Wall Space. The single bedroom in the house measures 12x11 feet. Two windows giving cross lighting and ventilation, a large closet, and good wall space to permit occasional rearrangement of furniture have been provided in planning this room.

The kitchen is one to delight the modern housewife with the efficiency of its layout. The long outside wall of the room is reserved for dining space, with a double window therein looking out on the garden or rear yard. Range and refrigerator stand side by side against the opposite, inner wall of the room. Adjacent to the range is an L-shaped working counter with sink and wall cabinets. A window is placed over the sink to light this part of the kitchen. Kitchen floor and counter top are linoleum covered.

Spacious Basement. The basement is of full cement construction. Laundry equipment is placed under the kitchen the house heating plant under the living room, and space under the bedroom left for storage or recreational use.

All ceilings should be insulated for greater comfort. A location facing from southeast to north-west will give the maximum daylighting to the various rooms. The architect suggests that if additional bedrooms are desired, these could be provided by utilizing the garage space. A detached garage could then be built at the rear of the house. This arrangement would make no material change in the general lines of the house.

Plans Are Available. Complete plans and specifications for this house, "The Nassau," the "Home of the Week" of any other design of this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, and enclose a self-addressed envelope, bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

New Preservatives For Wood Introduced

There are some new wood preservatives on the market which may be brushed or sprayed on wood or in which wood may be dipped. Some of these preservatives are moisture repellent as well as toxic so that insect attacks are discouraged. Fungus or bacterial growths which cause wood to decay are prevented.

At least one of these products which was primarily intended for marine use is made of metallic salts in a liquid vehicle. These, when penetrated into the wood, are insoluble in salt or fresh water and they are non-volatile.

Those Fireside Bricks

After the long winter's use, the fireplace bricks are dingy and black from smoke and soot. To brighten them, scrub with hot soapsuds, after which apply a coat of hot boiled oil with a paint brush. Saturate a cloth with vinegar to clean the brick lining around the fireplace. If necessary, repeat the operation.

Compressed within the four small walls of this charming house, "The Nassau," are all the essentials for comfortable living. It would make a practical home for an elderly couple or for two bachelor girls.

Meaning of Term Structural Glass

The glass industry probably outranks all others in its invasion of the building material field with new products. Time was when the idea of a glass house was something highly fantastic. Today, however, glass is being used more and more in homes and the idea of a future all-glass house becomes less improbable.

M. H. of Providence, wants to know "What is meant by structural glass?" Also, "Is ultra-violet glass available in standard window sizes?"

"Structural" glass includes glass brick, as well as heavy opaque panels of flat glass which are used for surfacing the walls of kitchens, bathrooms and elsewhere. Glass bricks may be solid or hollow; flat glass panels come in convenient sizes and are colorful and durable.

Ultra-violet glass now comes in standard window sizes.

Porches, Steps Need Attention

Not only the material—the shingles, metal, wood or composition—but the color of your roof affects your comfort in hot weather.

There is a scientific reason for the popularity of gently colored roofs in tropical and sub-tropical countries; they reflect more of the radiant heat of the sun than dark colored roofs.

Studies have been made to determine as closely as possible the proportion of the total "cooling load"—or, in other words, the manner in which heat gets into the house in summer—for which walls, ceilings, windows, etc., are responsible. Approximately one-fourth of the total is chargeable to the ceiling in any one room, and most of this may be presumed to come in through the roof.

Mirror Panels

Dimensions take a holiday when there is a mirror-paneled wall in the room. Not only because they lend a sense of unlimited spaciousness to interiors, but mirrored areas are becoming increasingly popular also because they brighten "twilight corners" and are smartly modern as well.

Corner Windows Helpful

The use of the bedroom area is almost doubled by corner windows. More wall space is created, allowing for an entirely new arrangement of furniture that may be impossible when regular type windows are used.

Heat Costs Cut By Low Ceiling

Construction Outlay Also Less by Keeping the Elevation Down

The height of ceilings in the home is not merely a matter of taste but a problem which involves the important factors of heating and ventilation.

In homes built during the Victorian period, rooms usually had elevations of 10 or 12 feet. These extreme heights were thought to aid in keeping the rooms cool during warm weather. Actually, unless the warm air was properly carried off, it only served to increase the temperatures by storing up masses of warm air. Any sensation of coolness noted was due to the mental reaction of the residents.

Most experts now agree that any space more than 12 inches above the heads of windows, unless ventilated thoroughly is of no value in cooling the room.

The modern trend is toward lower ceiling heights and adequate ventilation. When this principle of planning is followed there is a saving in construction costs without loss of livability. Also, because the area of the rooms with lower ceilings is less than that of those with greater elevations, heating costs are less.

Hot Water Tank's Size Is Important

Considerable care should be used in estimating the needs of the family to occupy the house when choosing the size of hot water storage tank. Federal Housing Administration officials say:

A common "rule of thumb" is 20 gallons of tank capacity for each bedroom, with no tank smaller than 30-gallon capacity. This rule should be adjusted to each individual case.

For best results, any so-called hot water storage tank is a mounted horizontal tank, with the source of heat at one end. The position utilizes the full capacity of the tank in contrast to the more common vertical design.

Washington. The word "water" was coined by taking the first letters of HATCHET, DICKENS and ANDY ROUNGUY.

Gentlemen,

Last winter, the ice blocked up my gutters and leader pipes so that the water dripping down the roof became dammed up. It seeped under the shingles and through the ceiling and walls below. How can I prevent this? I understand you have a remedy.

Please call and give an estimate, without obligation.

Very truly yours,

An increase of 82 per cent in the unemployment insurance claims load was reported by 10 local Labor Department offices in eastern New York. These offices, in the Labor Department's Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance, showed a total jump of 2,391 in jobless benefit claimants during the week ending December 2.

At the Kingston office, figures showed an increase of 288 or 14 per cent. Those collecting unemployment insurance for the week ending December 2 showed 2,340 while the rolls numbered 2,052 were listed for the week ending November 25.

Three cities, Glan Falls, Troy and Hudson, reported a slight improvement in the claims level. Plattsburgh had the greatest increase 770 jobless being registered.

According to Frank T. Piplto, assistant industrial commissioner in charge of the Labor Department's Albany District, this particular increase was due mainly to Republic Steel employees not being paid for the week of the termination of the nationwide strike on November 8. These workers certified as to their waiting period and filed for benefits as of November 29.

Commissioner Piplto also stated that a major cause for the upswing in unemployment claimants was the continued business decline in the garment and needle trades.

Grand Rapids, Mich. — Joey Maxlin 193, Cleveland, out-pointed Bill Peterson, 212, Port-

Chicago, Dec. 10. (AP)—A new leader placed the 16 finalists in the National All-Star Bowling Tourney today as they headed into the third round of the 64-game round robin matches.

He is Les Jouglard, a 28 year old Detroit jewelry salesman, who replaced Chicago's Junior McMahon at the half-way mark following last night's competition.

Jouglard posted a 12-1 win, 11 Jacobson and the first 32 games. He topped 6,824 pins and gained 159.24 points under the Petersen scoring system. Jouglard fired sensationally yesterday to take over the top spot. In 16 games against four opponents he averaged 223.18 on series scores of 952, 867, 889 and 924. McMahon, who had the highest all time score of the tournament.

McMahon Second

McMahon, leader in the first 28 games, was in second place with 157.17 points. Connie Schwoegler, defending champion from Madison, Wis., who got off to a slow start, moved into third spot with 153.21.

Only Three A.A.C. Teams Survive

New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—With the four-year professional football war over — a conflict that took its toll in dollars and tensms — the 13 surviving organizations today looked to solving the problems of a new league.

The combination of the venerable National Football League and the upstart All-America Conference came with startling suddenness in Philadelphia yesterday, after a 48-hour conference.

The two leagues merged into the National American Football League. Here is how the new set-up will look:

Philadelphia
Cleveland (combined with Buffalo)

Los Angeles (Los Angeles Dodgers and Los Angeles Rams combined)
New York Giants
New York Bulldogs (six New York Yankee players go to the Giants, remainder to the Bulldogs)

Baltimore
San Francisco
Pittsburgh
Chicago Bears
Chicago Cardinals
(Chicago Hornets eliminated)
Green Bay
Detroit
Washington

The merger is more or less a victory for the NFL, which for several years has refused flatly to recognize the younger circuit. All members of the NFL are in the new league. Only three teams of the A.A.C.—San Francisco, Cleveland and Baltimore—survived.

The 13 teams will be formed into American and National divisions, and by next year football will have what it lacked for the past four seasons—a real world's champion. The winners of the two divisions will meet for the title.

Bert Bell, the N.F.L. commissioner, takes over that job in the new circuit with the A.A.C. chief executive, O. O. Kessinger, bowing out of the picture. Emil R. Fischer of the Green Bay Packers becomes president of the National Division and Daniel Sherry of the Cleveland Browns

Coach G. Warren Kinas' "new team" launched its defense of the DUSO League basketball crown with a substantial 57-42 victory over Middletown High in the seasonal opener before a near capacity crowd last night at the municipal auditorium.

With the exception of Ronnie Scheffel, the glamor and tinsel of the big names of yesteryear were missing, but the new Maroons polished off the Orange county quintet with ease, if not with finesse.

Five minutes after the contest started, George Holstein was shouting like a man inspired and the eventual result was never in doubt.

Middletown J.V.s. (26)

Holstein racked up 18 points for the best individual performance of the night and uncorked a variety of dazzling shots. It could not be too difficult for this blond speedster to finish his high school career among the great names of Maroon history.

Levy came back on his shot from within the key. Ronnie Scheffel made up 14 points for the Kinsmen and it came quite likely that when Maschi scored (41) and Holstein chinked at the same time the damage to opposing teams might be incalculable.

Dick Brown, a staunch Negro youth was Middletown's defender. The blondie hit backed up 47 points, dominated the Midtown floor play and carried himself like a top notch ball player.

Lead I from Start

Kins' Big Five got up a 7-0 lead in the early moments of the game, while the Maroons fumbled away several opportunities under the basket. Holstein, Jim Riehl, Bud Scheffel hit for Kingston and Ronnie added a foul for the 7-0 bulge. Brown's jump shot made it 7-2 and Holstein added another path of ducks to wind up the quarter 7-2.

The Maroons played their best ball in the second period when Kingston earned a 14-13 advantage and 25-15 halftime bulge. In less time than it takes to describe it the Maroons had widened their margin to 31-16. Then it was 42-20 and Coach Kins unloosed the bench.

The kids wavered momentarily as the Maroons picked up six points and then began to assert themselves. Mike Provenzano, scoring wizard of last year's Jayvees, accounted for six points in the closing minutes, one a spectacular, driving layup.

Moll Leonard solidified his hold on the center slot with a sturdy performance at the pivot and a 12-point tally. Riehl, Bud Scheffel and Leonard were solid on re-

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Do you remember trolley tracks on John street where it crosses Wall street? You'll have to be an old-timer to remember. For instance, the Argus Printing Co. was next door to the State of New York National Bank on Wall street. Remember Kingston Argus newspaper with H. C. Crouch, editor?

I take it the tracks were of the horse-car era, as I see no wires above on a photograph loaned to me of Wall and John streets. For instance, right on the bank corner is an old-fashioned light pole, yet I see no wires, which means that the old kerosene days or the gas lit era. On the opposite corner of Wall and John street where the other bank is today, is an iron fence and tall trees. No leaves on the trees and men wearing overcoats which makes it the cold season. The road looks very muddy for long skirts, but a walk of some sort is extended from corners to corners. Jay walking wasn't simple like it is today. Traffic then consisted of just two open wagons standing still, and of course no parking meters.

On the John street side next to the State of New York National Bank of red brick with white trim, is a sign reading "Mont Market." A roof extends from the building right to the sidewalk, where it is supported by two posts. On the other side of John street on the corner is again the same type of roof, with sign I believe "Coca-Cola Restaurant." When was this picture taken?

Now for clues: First horse car was run in August, 1866, from Rondout to Kingston, terminating near the Kingston bridge over the Esopus. Previous to that, stages were run at frequent intervals between the two ends of town, and to Kingston Point, to use the river steamer. The fare for this two-mile trip was 12 1/2 cents, and there was a toll gate midway, there being a so-called plank road from which the company sought profit. Was Wall street a part of the Plank road?

Clearwater, page 224, also mentions 10-cent fare. He says in 1879 road was known as "Winn's Rapid Transit Line" and it took an hour to make the trip. Other historians have said 25 minutes. Clearwater also says the cars were just like the handcarriage tracks and he mentions mules and horses being used. The first electric trolley ran July 31, 1883 with fare reduced to five cents. The line known as Kingston City and other Colonial. They were consolidated January 1902. Soon after Kingston Point track was bought and converted to new owner, Samuel Cockendall, but of course that's another story.

For instance have you ever heard that in April of 1818, small change became scarce and nearly $3.00 in scrip issued by the village was valued by one deemed paper. Old village of Kingston clock caused such controversy between trustees and directors as it cost $20 a year, that a new eight-day clock was finally purchased in 1823 for $440. Where is it now? What museum? In 1816 the village bakers were required to make their loaves weigh 47 ounces each and sell them at 12 1/2 cents, says Clearwater on page 225.

May 1872 village of Kingston and Rondout incorporated May 29 with first joint election taking place April 16, 1872, 3,274 votes were cast for mayor, James G. Lindsay from Rondout became our first mayor. All these items I ran across looking for clues on when that photo was taken of Wall and John streets. My guess is any time between 1866 and 1892 before the electric trolley came in. What would you say?
